

Gulf Stream Coach Chooses KVH TracVision R4 to Bring Live Satellite TV to New Motorhomes

January 30, 2007

MIDDLETOWN, R.I.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Jan. 30, 2007--Customers choosing Gulf Stream Coach's luxury Friendship motorhomes are about to find the ride even friendlier thanks to TracVision(R) satellite TV systems from KVH Industries, Inc., (Nasdaq: KVHI). Gulf Stream, the largest privately held full-line recreational vehicle manufacturer in the United States, is now offering KVH's TracVision R4 satellite TV system as standard equipment on its stylish Friendship vehicles. The HDTV-ready TracVision R4, which provides fully automatic satellite TV reception when the vehicle is parked, will also be available as an option on four other Class A vehicle models manufactured by Indiana-based Gulf Stream.

"KVH affords us the opportunity to provide the very best for our customers," said Dean Crane, Gulf Stream's director of public relations. "The TracVision R4 automatic satellite TV system allows our customers to stay connected, even when they are getting away from it all. We pride ourselves on delivering a quality product to our customers and KVH is an integral part of that commitment."

Ian Palmer, KVH's executive vice president of satellite sales, added, "The TracVision R4 offers RV owners and manufacturers an outstanding combination of advanced technology, reliability, and affordability. We are very pleased that Gulf Stream selected TracVision to ensure that their discerning customers are able to enjoy the news, sports, weather, and other entertainment available through digital satellite TV and HDTV services throughout North America."

The TracVision R4 satellite TV system allows RV owners to enjoy satellite TV and music entertainment virtually anywhere they travel in the United States and Canada. All they need to do is pull into the campground or parking space, settle in for the night, and turn on the TracVision R4. The fully automatic antenna, protected under its stylish dome, seeks out the correct satellite automatically thanks to its integrated Digital Video Broadcast (DVB(R)) technology. Passengers can enjoy watching their favorite programming or listening to a variety of satellite radio music channels available on DIRECTV(R), DISH Network(TM) or ExpressVu.
